Everything is working nicely in favor of the railroad subscription. There is no foolish bluster about the matter and on election day the railroad advocates will prove irresistible.—Mountaineer.

In a few days Bristol will be asked to vote on a proposition to subscribe $25,000 to the capital stock of a railroad to run to Elizabethton. The Courier says: "There is about as much chance for the railroad proposition to carry in Bristol as there is for a bob-tail bull in fly time."

The appointment of John E. Oliver to an important position in the revenue service at Nashville, took him out of the list of applicants for circuit court, and Judge Brown last week appointed S. H. L. Cooper to that position to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father, Lewis Cooper. Mr. Cooper is a young man of high character, good address and will no doubt make an efficient clerk.

There is no one portion of Johnson City better than another and we rejoice that this is so. Development alone, makes any section or addition valuable.

Henry C. Hart, Esq., of Johnson City, announces his willingness to incur the expense necessary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Oliver. As Johnson City is not honored with a single county officer, we hope the republicans of the county will compliment that thriving and important town by giving Mr. Hart the race without the trouble and expense of a convention. The position will amount to nothing unless there is an extra session, and if that is called it can only hold for twenty days.—Herald & Tribune.

Fannie May, the four year old daughter of W. M. and Fannie S. Burrow, died at Bristol last Monday morning. No brighter little spirit ever crossed the borderland of the skies. Dear, patient, little Fannie May is gone—gone, and the fond parents are left with crushed and bleeding hearts. But they have the blessed assurance that she is now safe with Him who has promised to hear even the young ravens when they cry. Time will help to soften their sorrow and after awhile it will be a sweet memory to look back on the few years little Fannie May lived to brighten their home and their lives. Earth is all the better that she lived, and heaven is all the brighter that she is there.

RESOLUTIONS

On the Death of Mrs. Martha Gentry Range.

The committee of the Johnson City Sabbath School, M. E. Church South, on the death of Mrs. Martha Gentry Range report the following:

The harvest is being gathered home. Once, twice, thrice during this year the angel of death has thrust in his sickle and gathered a ripe sheaf from our Sabbath School. If death were an eternal sleep, then indeed should we mourn the sad fate of eternal separation. But He whom we worship in our Sunday School has revealed unto us concerning "that land that is fairer than day," "far away in the Kingdom of God," and our faith is, that "though a man die, yet shall he live again," though the body of a Christian man sleep for ages in the tomb, yet awaking from its mortality it will put on immortality, and take part in the first resurrection.

Mrs. Martha Gentry Range was an affectionate wife, loving mother, an exemplary member of the church, an active worker in the Woman's Missionary Society, and amid all her cares and duties she, unlike so many others, found time to be an earnest Sabbath School Scholar. Until the hand of affliction bore her down, she filled her seat in the Sabbath School.

Although but in the 39th year of her age, where on life's highway the stone but marks the highest point and morning turns to noon, to many, yet she, tired and weary, lay down to rest and "fell into that tired dreamless sleep that kisses her eyelids still."

During her sickness she trusted Him whom she served in health. Timid woman, that in life would start at the rustle of a leaf, in death was a heroine of the highest and grandest type, who calmly leaned on Jesus, and without a tremor of fear passed from the mortal to the immortal. The terror of death had fled as darkness flies before the morning sun. To her death had lost its sting. And whilst now the grave claims the victory, yet not forever, for in the sweet bye and bye the body of our departed sister, bursting the cerements of the grave will come forth revived, beautified, glorified and immortalized, to enjoy forever without alloy those blessings to which she became heir by her faith in Christ and christian works while in the flesh.

Resolved; That in the death of sister Martha Gentry Range our Sabbath School has lost a faithful worker, the church a valuable member and society one whose life was jeweled with many virtues.

Resolved; That we deeply sympathize with the mother, brother and sisters of the deceased, but especially so with him who was the loving, devoted husband, now so sad and crushed; and the children sadly bereft not only of a loving mother, but also of her godly guiding influence.

Resolved, further, that as a Sabbath school, and as individuals, we will do what we can to help those children walk in the ways of their mother, to follow her as she followed Christ.

Respectfully submitted,
E. C. REEVES,
J. CRUMLEY,
MRS. A. J. BARNES.
